1. Rails at a glance

Method	Minimum	Typical timing
Easypaisa (to desk wallet)	Deposit Rs 500 / Withdrawal Rs 1,000	Deposit credit usually minutes after TID is shared; wallet payouts median 38 minutes (measured).
JazzCash (to desk wallet)	Deposit Rs 500 / Withdrawal Rs 1,000	Same as Easypaisa. Keep the TID from the confirmation SMS / app receipt.
Bank — IBFT	Deposit Rs 500 / Withdrawal Rs 1,000	Credit after the transfer reflects; payouts same-day norm, bank hours apply.
Bank — Raast	Deposit Rs 500 / Withdrawal Rs 1,000	Near-instant transfer in most cases; credit confirmed against the reference / TID.

All figures above are the desk's published minimums. A wallet may allow a smaller transfer, but the desk will not credit a deposit below Rs 500 or process a withdrawal below Rs 1,000 — send the correct amount first time.

2. The 4 deposit steps — with TID discipline

1. Get today's deposit details from the desk. Ask on WhatsApp for the current Easypaisa / JazzCash number or bank details for this deposit. Do not reuse an old number from a screenshot without confirming — receiving details can change.
2. Send the exact amount (minimum Rs 500) from your own wallet or bank account. The name on the sending wallet matters later: withdrawals return to the same wallet you funded from.
3. Save the TID immediately. Copy the Transaction ID from the confirmation SMS or app receipt before you close the screen. A screenshot of the full receipt is your backup — keep both.

4. Send the desk your username + TID + amount + method in one WhatsApp message. One complete message is processed faster than four partial ones. Wait for the credit confirmation, then check your balance in the account before betting.

TID discipline in one line: no TID, no trace. The desk credits hundreds of deposits against TIDs; “I sent it, please check” without a TID cannot be matched quickly and is the single biggest cause of slow credits.

3. The 3 mistakes behind missing deposits

Mistake 1 — Wrong or old receiving number. Money sent to a previous wallet number or a number copied from another person’s screenshot. Fix: always confirm today’s details with the desk in the same chat before sending.

Mistake 2 — TID never sent, or sent wrong. One missing or extra digit makes the transaction unfindable. Fix: copy-paste the TID from the SMS / app, do not retype it from memory, and check it against the receipt before sending.

Mistake 3 — Sending again in panic. A second transfer does not speed up the first one; it creates two traces and a refund conversation. Fix: see below — never resend.

What to do if a deposit has not credited

1. Do NOT resend the money. One missing deposit is a tracing job; two is a dispute.
2. Send the TID first, in one message: username, TID, exact amount, method, time sent, and the receipt screenshot.
3. Check your own wallet history: confirm the status says completed / successful, not pending or reversed, and that the receiving number matches what the desk gave you today.
4. Give the desk one clear tracing window. Most TID-complete cases resolve the same day; shouting in five chats does not create a second support team.
5. If the transfer went to a wrong number you chose, tell the desk immediately and honestly — recovery, where possible at all, depends on speed and on the receiving wallet not having spent it.

4. Withdrawal steps

1. Check your available (settled) balance is at least Rs 1,000. Unsettled bets are not withdrawable.
2. Message the desk: username, withdrawal amount, and method. Expect payout to the same Easypaisa / JazzCash wallet or bank account you funded from (Section 5).
3. Confirm the receiving wallet is switched on and able to receive (wallet limits and bank hours apply outside the desk’s control).
4. Wait for the payout confirmation and check your wallet. Keep the payout TID the desk shares until the money reflects.

5. The same-wallet rule — and why it exists

Withdrawals are paid only to the wallet or bank account that funded the account. This is an anti-fraud and anti-mule rule, not desk stubbornness: it proves the person withdrawing is the person who deposited, it stops stolen-wallet funding, and it creates a clean money trail if a deposit is ever disputed. Plan for it: fund from the wallet you actually want payouts in, in your own name where possible. If you have genuinely changed your number, tell the desk before depositing again — expect extra verification, not an instant exception, and never ask for payout to a friend’s or a stranger’s wallet.

6. Realistic payout timings

- Wallet payouts (Easypaisa / JazzCash): same-day norm. The desk’s measured median is 38 minutes.
- Bank payouts (IBFT / Raast): same-day norm within banking hours; late-night and weekend requests may reflect on the next banking cycle depending on the banks involved.
- Match nights (PSL, Pakistan internationals, big football fixtures): volume spikes for every desk. A payout that takes 38 minutes on a quiet afternoon can take a few hours on a final night. Withdraw before the match if you need the money that evening.
- First withdrawal on a new account and any withdrawal after a wallet change take longer — verification is done once, properly, rather than skipped.
- A withdrawal cannot overtake an unsettled market. If funds are tied to open bets, the clock starts at settlement, not at your message.

If a payout passes the same-day norm with no update, send one message with your username, amount, method and the time you requested — that is everything the desk needs to chase it. Never pay anyone a “release fee” to speed a withdrawal up: payouts and password resets are free, and release / unlock fees are always a scam.
